Undecoding 4.7- How Technology and Education Promote Quality Learning and Peace

Draft Program

September, Tuesday, 23, 11.00-12.00

Agenda

Education and Information, Communication and Scientific Technologies (ICSTs) together can truly promote quality learning and a culture of peace, connecting students and teachers and creating a world classroom where the international sharing of knowledge will be present from the early school as naturally as reading a book.

The aim of the Round Table is to create an opportunity to highlight the important work already done, advocate its expansion, and announce future commitments in the house of Peace, The UN, namely in what concerns the World Classroom Partnerships.
